

Addendum to RFP for Website Redesign Project

Questions and Answers

Q. Do resumes count toward the proposal's 15-page limit?

A. Yes.

Q. Are you looking to cut down on the number of pages/links/navigation in the current site?

A. Specific changes to design/navigation of the website will not be decided at this point. Though proposers may suggest ideas and strategies regarding changes to the site as part of their proposals, this RFP process is in place only to facilitate the selection of a website provider.

Q. Has the city outlined a specific "Scope of Work" regarding desired website features and functionality?

A. No. Staff has determined some features that must be included in the site, which are listed in the RFP. However, staff also understands that there are features/functionalities that they may not be aware of. Therefore, they chose an RFP that allows for innovative and creative proposals.

Q. Has the city allocated a specific budget for this project?

A. The city is interested in finding the right product for its needs. Though cost will certainly be an important part of the selection process, as of right now there is not a specific budget for this project.
